Japan firm gets steel majority

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Nippon Kokan Corp. of Japan will up its stake in the parent corporation of National Steel Corp. to 70 percent, spokesmen for National Steel said Wednesday.

NKK and National Intergroup Inc. jointly announced that their boards of directors had reached an agreement in principle whereby NII would sell 20 percent of National Steel to NKK for about $147 million.

The sale would put NKK's stake in National Steel at 70 percent and NII's at 30 percent. NKK bought 50 percent of the company in 1984.

In addition, NII will exchange 20 percent of NSC common stock for newly issued preferred stock of NSC. This block of stock will represent about 67 percent of NII's remaining 30 percent ownership of NSC. NII will continue to own common stock of NSC representing the balance of its interest in NSC.

The change will not effect management or employee policies, labor contracts or modernization plans, said Kokichi Hagiwara, president and chief operating officer of NSC.

"NSC already has a strong team in place," Hagiwara said. "We do not plan any major changes in NSC's overall operations. We look forward to many decades of increasing prosperity and stability for all those associated with National Steel Corporation."

"NSC's working relationship with its employees and union representatives has been very healthy and we will work hard to see that it continues. NSC is recognized as a leader in labor-management relations," he said.

"NKK president and CEO Yoshinari Yamashiro said, 'After six years as a partner in National Steel, we feel the company has shown consistent improvement and will continue to improve in the future.'"

"Therefore, there will be no change in the management policies of NSC, and it will continue to be managed as an American company, as it has been in the past," Yamashiro said.

Under terms of the agreement, the deal must be closed by June 30, said National Steel spokesman Bob Toothman. After the deal is closed, the NSC Board of Directors makeup will be reconstituted to reflect the relative holdings of NII and NKK, he said. Currently, each company has three directors on the board.

The deal was NII's idea, said Howard M. Love, chairman and chief executive officer of NII and NSC. He said it was part of a long-term NII strategy to divest its metals businesses in order to concentrate more on its distribution businesses, including a pharmaceutical company.

Love also said the deal would ensure the continued flow of new technology from NKK to NSC.

In 1989, NSC earned net income of $83.2 million on sales of $2.6 billion. It is the sixth largest steel company in America.

NKK Corp. had a net income of $318 million on sales of $9.6 billion in Fiscal Year 1989. Steelmaking accounted for about 74 percent of its revenues.

Sun ends publishing

ST. LOUIS — The 7-month-old St. Louis Sun published its final edition Wednesday.

The Sun was launched Sept. 25 and published 213 editions.

In a statement, Editor-in-Chief Ralph Ingersoll II said, "This was a decision the marketplace made for us. Today, after seven months and after exhaustive consideration, it is clear that we could not achieve sufficient circulation to make this enterprise viable."

"And so, we have concluded that there is no longer room in St. Louis for a third newspaper in addition to our own Suburban Journals and the Post-Dispatch."

He said Sun subscribers who have paid in advance will receive full refunds for the unexpired portions of their subscriptions.

The decision to cease publishing the Sun, Ingersoll said, was not based on lack of advertising support, which had actually increased more than 75 percent since Jan. 1.

"The Sun clearly received a vote of confidence from the advertising community," he said. "However, despite extensive promotional efforts, our inability to build or even to project a viable circulation base, particularly with respect to single copy sales, was judged to be the insurmountable problem."

Eligibility for loans extended

GRANITE CITY — Houses that have been identified as having lead-contaminated soil will, with some restrictions, remain eligible for FHA loans.

Lawrence Morgan of the Springfield Office of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development said in a written statement to U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello, that in conversations with representatives of the U.S. and Illinois Environmental Protection Agency it was their opinion "the current owners or future purchasers will not be adversely affected if reasonable caution is exercised by the individuals of this area."

The statement said: "The structures (homes) in this area will not be required to be removed, only 6 to 12 inches in depth of the ground in the yards surrounding the homes will be removed and replaced with clean topsoil, which the yards will be sodded."

"During the clean-up operation," he said.

Development plan gets OK with changes

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The City Council Tuesday approved the City's Comprehensive Development Plan after four neighborhoods were changed from industrial to residential areas on a projected land-use map.

The Lincoln Place, Tri-City Park, and south downtown neighborhoods and a small residential section on the fringe of East Granite were changed on the map, but the plan was otherwise unchanged in an amendment approved by the aldermen. The amended plan passed by a 13-0 vote.

Many residents of the areas, especially Lincoln Place and Tri-City Park, had actively opposed the plan because of the industrial designation and were present at the meeting.

"Don't think the City Council is promising something it can't deliver," 2nd Ward Alderman Virgil Kambarian told the residents before the vote.

On the map yellow reflects residential and gray reflects industrial land use. Kambarian referred to the differences.

"Don't go home thinking that if we change it to yellow, the problem is solved. If we change it to yellow, I think that's carved in stone either."

"The only way the area is going to stay residential, whether it is gray or yellow, is for the residents to actively work to keep the neighborhood up."

Kambarian and 7th Ward Alderman Jeff Worthen, chairman of the Planning and Zoning Committee, both stressed that because the neighborhoods have areas which have suffered severe decline and are bordered, and nearly surrounded, by areas currently zoned industrial, there is nothing to keep industry from

QuikTrip site to include Jack in Box

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — In return for a commitment from QuikTrip Corp. to develop a one-block area on Madison Avenue, the city has agreed to help the company with a $500,000 financial package.

In return, the company has agreed to build a QuikTrip convenience store and at least one other store there. Jack in the Box Restaurant has verbally committed to the location, a city official said.

QuikTrip purchased options to buy the one block area between Madison and Grand avenues just north of Niedringhaus Avenue a year ago and was granted a zoning change in order to develop the area last summer. By late fall, however, the company told the city it couldn't proceed without financial help from the city.

According to Economic Development Director Alan Ortals, the agreement approved by the aldermen following a closed session Tuesday calls for the city to pay for asbestos removal, demolition of existing structures, relocation of utilities and construction of new sidewalks and curbs, for expanding into the neighborhoods "tomorrow."

Worthen said establishing a development plan is the first step in protecting neighborhoods in the future. Creating a new zoning law will be next next step, he said.

He said the lack of a plan is what caused the problems the objecting neighborhoods face now and, although it would not appear practical, the new plan calls for the city to protect the housing stock in those neighborhoods if possible.

However, the only real way to protect them, Worthen and Kambarian said, is for the residents to protect their own neighborhood.

Venice fears summer of street violence

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

VENICE — City officials fear a hot summer if steps are not taken to discourage crowds of youths from "hanging out" and "drinking out" in the 300 block of Weaver Street in the city's north end.

On Monday night, some youths in a estimated crowd of 40 or 50 hurled rocks, beer bottles and curses at several police cars, and one shouted, "This is our town! We have taken it!"

No arrests were made Monday night. One man was arrested Tuesday for throwing a beer bottle. He was charged with disorderly conduct.

Alderman Silver Franklin said when he drove down the street on his motorcycle bottles were thrown at him.

Alderman Victor Valentine summed up the general tone at the City Council meeting Tuesday, where discussion of the problem lasted more than an hour after Valentine brought it up.

"Weaver Street is going to be a terrible problem when the summer comes. My only hope and prayer is that nobody gets killed."

He said, "We have senior citizens living in fear. When you can't go out of your house, you may as well be in prison."

One woman, who lives near Weaver Street, suggested that the police shoot first and ask questions later.

"I am scared," she said. "I propose you move them any way you can. When you start shooting I'm behind you 100 percent."

Venice is becoming "a small East St. Louis," Valentine said. "We can't afford to keep losing our kids to drugs and liquor and thugs."

Aldermen complained that the Madison County Sheriff's Department and Illinois State Police have turned down the city's request for full-time officers to be stationed in Venice.

Valentine said neighboring Brooklyn gets regular patrols from a St. Clair County Sheriff's Department officer.

"It's a shame that people pay taxes and can't even travel around the city," he said.

Valentine said maybe the council needed to march on the Sheriff's Department headquarters in Edwardsville. When Franklin asked Police Chief Bill Reed if the Venice police had asked the State Police for regular patrols, Reed said the state would respond only on an emergency basis.

Reed also said the department was short two, and probably three, officers.

The city has trouble getting and keeping officers because its department has the lowest police pay scale in the county.

Mayor Tyrone Echols said part of the problem is the wholesale "failure of the penal system" — from lenient county judges to prisons and jails that don't rehabilitate inmates.

Echols said maybe the whole council should meet with all the judges to voice their complaints.

Echols also lambasted what he called "two-bit lawyers" who represent criminals.

"They ought to be disbarred," Echols said.

Franklin said the Park Department ought to sponsor activities to get teenagers off the streets, but several aldermen said most of the youths are not from Venice.

Echols was skeptical about the value of traditional recreational activities, saying teenagers today aren't interested in dances and softball leagues.

"Does 13-year-old kid today think like a 13-year-old kid of 20 years ago?" Echols asked. "I don't think so."

Alderman John Henry Williams said a lack of recreational activities is not an excuse.

"We need to deal with these crooks and thugs like criminals because that's what they are," Williams said.

Alderman Henry Fletcher suggested the police issue citations to youths carrying "boom boxes."

City Treasurer J. Alan Gardner said he doubted one could find 10 Boy Scouts in

Fight alleged, man charged

Steven Edward Okeefe, 30, of Ironton, Mo., was booked for battery at 6:45 p.m. April 20, following an incident in the Kirkpatrick Homes.

Officers, responding to a call that a fight was in progress, talked with Joe Vandergriff, 32, of the 3800 block of Kirkpatrick Homes. He alleged having problems with Okeefe after the suspect came out of a nearby apartment, started an argument and allegedly threatened to beat him.

A fight ensued between the men and Vandergriff said his head was sore and showed officers two bite marks which he alleged were caused by Okeefe.

Okeefe, who sustained a small cut on his face, was arrested. He posted $102 bail and later was released, pending a hearing.

Parked van burglarized

Granite City

Police said they received a report that Rodgers and a companion had descended a stairwell at Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Police arrived and found Rodgers and the other man; a marijuana cigarette was laying nearby.

Police quoted Rodgers as saying the cigarette was his. Mike L. Mansfield, 19, of the 2700 block of Iowa Street, was charged with disorderly conduct. Warrant served.

Carroll Edward Sauerwein, 25, of the 1700 block of Edison Avenue was charged with resisting a peace officer and driving while his license was suspended when arrested at 6:15 p.m. April 20 at 20th Street and Madison Avenue. A patrolman driving past that location saw another officer having problems with Sauerwein and stopped to assist. The suspect allegedly pushed the officers and a struggle ensued. Minimal force was necessary to make the arrest, a report said.

Vandals damage car

Vicki L. Dugan of the 1200 block of Niedringhaus Avenue reported at 9:30 p.m. April 20 that vandals broke the driver's side mirror and flattened two tires on her 1983 Chevrolet which was parked at the rear of her address.

Cost of operating a car up to 33 cents per mile-AAA

It now costs 33 cents per mile to own and operate a 1990 American-made car, reports AAA in its 1990 edition of "Your Driving Costs" pamphlet. This cost is up 2.4 cents over last year's operating costs.

The 33 cents per mile figure represents a composite national average for three popular-size 1990 models—a four-cylinder Ford Escort LX, a six-cylinder Ford Taurus L, and an eight-cylinder Chevrolet Caprice—driven 15,000 miles per year and kept four years.

Automobile expenses are divided into two categories: variable costs and fixed costs.

Variable costs depend on the number of miles driven. Nationally, these costs include gasoline and oil, 5.4 cents per mile; routine maintenance, 2.1 cents per mile; and tires, 0.9 cents per mile. These variable costs total 8.4 cents per mile based on 15,000 miles of driving a year.

Fixed costs, on the other hand, generally are once-a-year expenses that are not significantly affected by the number of miles driven.

These expenses include: insurance (comprehensive, collision, property damage and liability) at $657 per year; license, registration fees, and taxes at $156; depreciation at $2,242; and finance charges at $638. Fixed costs total $3,693 per year.

The average per-mile cost is determined by combining the variable and fixed costs. A motorist driving 15,000 miles a year would pay $1,260 in variable costs (15,000 times 8.4 cents) and $3,693 in fixed costs, adding up to $4,953 divided by 15,000.

AAA's brochure also includes a table to help car owners compute their own costs, and the 1990 edition of "Your Driving Costs" has information for vacation budgeting.

For example, a family of four—two adults and two children—should plan to spend $173 per day for lodging and meals, plus $8.40 per 100 miles for gas, oil, tires and maintenance, with the car averaging 23 miles per gallon. The average cost for lodging is $80 a night, based on rates charged by approved accommodations listed in AAA TourBooks.

This rate includes $5 nightly per child. However, if children are within an age limit set by the management—usually up to age 14—there may be no extra charge.

AAA suggests that a family plan to spend $93 a day for meals, not including tips and cocktails.

Meal costs can be reduced by having the main meal at midday, to take advantage of lower lunch prices at restaurants.

For a free copy of the 1990 edition of "Your Driving Costs," persons may send a self-addressed, stamped business-size envelope to AAA-Auto Club, Traffic and Safety Dept., 12901 North Forty Drive, St. Louis, Mo. 63141.

A patrolman alleged Barunica's northbound auto was speeding in a 30 mph zone at 21st Street and the driver was weaving the vehicle from lane to lane while being pursued north on Madison Avenue.

Barunica consented to a breath test. He posted $102 bail and his driver's license was released, pending a court appearance.

Venice

Police said the house was ransacked, but only a telephone was taken.

'Dames at Sea' to open this weekend

ShowTime Express, Granite City's newest theater production company, will present "Dames at Sea" this weekend at the Granite City Eagles Lodge, 2558 Madison Avenue. The public is invited.

Tickets cost $6 each and may be purchased at the Eagles Lodge, or from the cast members and auxiliary members and by calling 451-2525 or 621-7549.

"Dames at sea" is being presented by special arrangement with Samuel French, Inc. of New York, N.Y.

In the 1930s, in Hollywood, the worst that could happen in the movies was the loss of a theater by a manager-producer, just before the opening of his big show, or the apparent loss by a frail (girl) of her fella.

Mr. and Mrs. America, as well as sailors on all those ships at sea, scraped together their pennies and indulged themselves in the movies of the 1930s, knowing full well the movies were hokum, but a hokum of hope and escape, the producers explained.

"Dames at Sea" deftly and delightfully captures this delusion. It explains why this style of entertainment — apart from its happy and just-right combination of melodies, lyrics, performances and production values — won the praise of critics and hearts of audiences to make it one of the biggest hits of its season.

A big steel move is made

The long-anticipated foreign acquisition of National Steel is about to come to past, but don't expect any big changes soon. Save for the crossing of a few T's, Nippon Kokan Corp. of Japan is on the brink of increasing its share in the parent corporation of National Steel Corp. to 70 percent, spokesmen said Wednesday.

NKK and National Intergrupp Inc. jointly announced that their boards of directors had reached an agreement in principle whereby NII would sell 20 percent of National Steel to NKK for about $147 million. NKK had bought 50 percent of the company in 1984 and has long been expected to take majority control.

So what does this mean to Granite City Steel, this town's biggest employer? Insiders are telling us they feel confident of little change. Their new bosses have said as much publicly.

Granite City Steel's development of a $140 million continuous casting unit is a major development in the world of steelmaking and we see NKK's interest in its Granite City operation only growing in the months ahead.

Poor handling of fire chief

Today, Fire Chief Charlie Bernaix knows no more about his job future than he did three months ago, when we first reported that Mayor Von Dee Cruse probably wouldn't reappoint him.

Bernaix knows he won't be reappointed, but it's not because Cruse had the guts to tell him. It's through hearsay only. That, friends, is a poor way to handle any employee.

Appointees serve at the whim of their master, and master Cruse is tired of his fire chief. Or maybe his fire chief's willingness to state his opinion.

Word on the street is that assistant Fire Chief Bob Bell is the odds-on favorite to inherit Bernaix's job. Perhaps he will be a good chief.

Maybe as good as Charlie Bernaix?

The sad demise of the Sun

Operating a newspaper in the '90s is a risky venture. Alligators are everywhere — declining ad revenues, sagging reader interest, general distrust of "the media." So it was with much enthusiasm that we greeted the daily St. Louis Sun to the local scene last September. Sadly, with yesterday's announced closing, we now must bid it goodbye.

The Sun featured a stylized approach that was unlike anything a lot of Midwesterners had seen. It set the pace in some areas and competed strongly in others. Unfortunately a good product doesn't always spell success.

We strongly believe that the more widely varied the news sources the greater the benefit to the consumer. Residents benefited from the Sun's existence, and hopefully the remaining media will be able to emulate the paper's goals as we strive to serve an information-hungry public.

Neatness is civic pride

The weather outside had been frightful in the days preceding Saturday's annual Stash the Trash cleanup, but enough people participated in the event to make it more than worthwhile.

Forty-five tons of trash were picked up by volunteers from several organizations, and individuals throughout town either helped out or were made aware of the community spirit displayed. Cleanup by some continues.

If we can do this in the worst of conditions, imagine what we can do in the best. We took to the main highways for most of our cleanup, but the real task is in keeping up with own property.

Earth Day on Sunday also made us aware of how important cleanliness is. Our world truly is getting smaller. There's no reason we shouldn't live to enjoy its fruits.

By the way, the winning team in the cleanup was a group from the Charles Melvin Price Support Center. By far, members from the center picked up more trash than any others. They are to be congratulated.

Fish stories without end

Every kid's dream, every father's nightmare — family fishing.

I learned the hard way on a recent Sunday, when I took all three of mine to a local fishing derby.

Any parent who's ever fished with children knows the end result is not how many fish are caught, but how quick it's over. With that amendment to Murphy's Law in mind, Sunday was no exception.

I kept tally. The fishing net result:

One broken reel
—Snag on shallow rocks on first cast (replaced everything but the line)
—Two run-ins with nearby line-eating bush.

Two crossed-over lines, caused by an errant cast by one of the lake's many invaders. (Fathers had to do tango with poles.)

And that, believe it or not, was the first five minutes of a 90-minute excursion. The fish weren't the least bit nervous.

Whoever said that fishermen must have patience obviously did not take children into account. No kid can sit for more than 10 seconds fishless.

After fishing derbies, I scowled my youngest son on his first five failed attempts. He finally went off to root in a nearby dirt pile, a hobby for which he is far better suited.

Fathers get a workout during

such events. Baiting hooks. Removing hooks. Pouring Kool-Aid. Everything but fishing.

Sixty painful minutes passed before we caught our first fish and then God we finally did because I was smelling mutiny.

No sooner than recording the first catch that suddenly our luck changed, and we were catching one fish after another. I think they were blue gill, but they might have been minnows.

"I love fishing derbies!" proclaimed my youngest son, hopping along the bank. Funny how a little thing like success will lift one's spirits. He forgot about the dirt pile.

By day's end we took our total catch back up to the weighing table to see if we qualified for a trophy. Unfortunately nine fish weighing a total one-half pound wasn't close.

The day wasn't a total loss, however. One kid fell in the lake, and for once, it wasn't one of mine.

Message: Don't drink, drive

To the editor:

My message to a potential first-time drinker is Don't Take That First Drink.

Drinking is bad for everyone, no matter who you are. More and more people are drinking alcohol each year.

Drinking is not good for your health. When you drink, you are killing your brain cells. By drinking alcohol you can accumulate a disease known as cirrhosis. Furthermore, you could kill yourself, which is definitely not good for your health.

Alcohol abuse can cause you to hurt many things. You can lose your friends and family. You could lose your job or it could affect our school work.

The abuse of alcohol can cost a large amount of money. For one reason, it's really wasting your money. Also, some people get so hooked on alcohol that they have to go into a rehabilitation center to help them and it costs for rehabilitation centers.

There are many reasons why it is not wise to drink. Just remember, you only have one family and one life.

BPW event bears repeating

To the editor:

On Saturday, March 24, I attended the BPW "Women Helping Women" at BAC and found it to be one of the most informational and well-planned programs held in this community in a long time. There were high-caliber speakers ready to help women in all walks of life.

Unfortunately, whether due to the weather or other activities the same day, attendance was minimal. Perhaps more publicity was needed outlining the topics of discussion. I only wish I had gotten there earlier. As it was, I planned to stay an hour and was there almost four hours.

I hope the Granite City Business and Professional Women give this "Day for Women in our Community" another shot next year and all the women reading this letter would plan to attend.

April dedicated to spaying

To the editor:

April has been set aside for spay/neuter month. This is very important because of the serious pet overpopulation we are experiencing in this country. There are more than 70,000 puppies and kittens, and by not altering our animals we will add to the already twenty-five million homeless animals in our country.

Since April is spay/neuter month it is important that we help prevent overpopulation. By altering our pets it also helps the animal from wandering out of the yard and becoming lost, stolen, or even killed.

Please don't let your pet become a statistic. Please spay or neuter your pet.

Fight for national interest

To the editor:

Representative Jerry Costello D-Illinois and cosponsors of House Joint Resolution 288 require the federal government to estimate total receipts of all expenditures for that year and stored in private state banks. At that amount, except in times of conflict, or to repay the principal on the national debt.

The Congress will not be required to restrict spending if the balanced-budget amendment to the U.S. Constitution fails. To meet the Gramm-Rudman level of $64 billion in 1991, Social Security trust funds paid by U.S. taxpayers prior to 1982 have been stored in private state banks. According to a report by the 101st Congressional Delegation in June 1989, the Internal Revenue Service will not audit everybody's income tax forms. Others believe the IRS conducts its audits and checks on itemized deductions yearly on everybody's personal earned income, no matter what their income bracket.

Remember the Cuban Refugee Resettlement Act of 1983? Those funds were paid by U.S. taxpayers and social security trust funds and sent to Florida's conservative legislation requires that the Earned Income Tax Credits should be capped at 5 percent and paid directly to parents and childcare providers, and to all U.S. taxpayers whose annual incomes fall below the $20,000.

It is healthier for every man, woman and child to owe $3,000 to state banks than for each of them to owe $10,000 to federal reserve deposit corporations. Run-away spending, bond swindling, and capital gains lead to inheritance taxes on property, loans on homes, unfair tax legislation laws, and a general mistrust for organizations such as the Farm Bureau, the International Trade Union, and fraudulent insurance companies who care very little about private business developments and prosperity for a free-thinking people.

It is high time our democratic Congress lead the U.S. of America with our national interest at heart, not that of others.

Mayor's help appreciated

To the editor:

On March 2, Mayor Von Dee Cruse's Council for Granite City Seniors sponsored a dinner/dance at the Township Hall, which was beautifully decorated in keeping with a Mardi Gras theme.

Thanks to Mayor Cruse and Rosemarie Brown and her committee for putting together this gala event. The dinner catered by Jerry's Cafeteria was superb, the music was great and donations were very much appreciated.

Thanks to all who participated in this festive occasion.

Give babies a living chance

To the editor:

George Heath III's letter to the forum of March 9, 1990, prompted me to give him my opinion and answer. George, my daughter a few weeks ago gave birth to the most beautiful baby girl and I am the happiest grandfather on this earth. Abortion was considered because of her not being married. Thank my God she chose to have her baby but some people think was only a fetus. Gosh, what a beautiful fetus our granddaughter is. George, pregnancy is not a morality that people are trying to impose on anyone. If you give that baby (fetus) a chance at life, I'm sure it will be a life just as our God, wanted it to be. I'm a father of five children and proud of it. True, it will cost lots to raise a child, but just bear in mind my friend, they will survive, and who knows, may become the president one day. George, I say give these babies the same chance you had that is to be born and given their chance at life as you have had. OK?

See the KKK for what it is

To the editor:

I believe that the Ku Klux Klan should be allowed to use the public access channel of any cable television company to air its views. Everyone should be allowed to witness the point of view of the KKK. Everyone should see the prejudices and the hatred of the KKK.

By witnessing these views on cable television, maybe some people, who are now complacent concerning racial prejudices, will become "fighting mad" and join in the battle against these views. For too long people have just sat back and watched as people were judged simply by their color, religion, or political affiliation.

Everyone has the right to express their point of view, but Americans also have the right to listen to these views and to make their minds up one way or the other. I am sure many more people will be influenced to fight against the KKK than will be taken in by the hatred.

Volunteers

Saluting National Volunteer Week April 22-28

SOLICITATION is what volunteer Becky Slafe does for the United Way. Here, Slafe receives a donation from Don Tschannen, the manager of Jan's Hallmark Shop in Crossroads Shopping Plaza.

Volunteer service is such an integral part of the American way of life it often goes unnoticed and unrecognized. From the early patriots striving to build a free nation to neighbors helping in community groups, one common trait has continued to distinguish the American people — the desire to help one's neighbor through volunteer service.

Today nearly half — or 89 million — adult Americans volunteer in time of emergency or disaster as well as in addressing long standing community problems. Many of these people volunteer through the United Way.

The Tri-Cities Area United Way has hundreds of volunteers serving in a variety of tasks. Forty-two local citizens serve on the United Way Board of Directors. They set policy and direct overall operations of the organization.

APPROPRIATION'S CHAIRMAN Orville Mercer, left, goes over a budget plan with Larry Wiegand of Magna Bank and Phillipp Hill of Nestle Food's Inc.

Scores of others come forward during the fall campaign to diligently solicit funds on behalf of United Way supported agencies.

Still another 30 or more volunteers, including retirees, youth, blue-collar workers, management and labor spend long tedious hours studying and determining how best to allocate the funds raised.

In addition, volunteers assist with some of the daily operations at the United Way office, or they help to plan and promote special events. Some serve on the Communications, Priorities and Planning, Labor Participation or Audit committees.

Each of these many volunteers help to promote the United Way mission: To increase the organized capacity of people to care for one another.

TWENTY-FIVE VOLUNTEERS from 12 local clubs and organizations packaged and delivered 277 lunches at a special United Way event.

Napoleon has withdrawn; Switzerland may soon be ready to disarm

As we wound through the mountains in Switzerland, the new Swiss Army knife in my pocket, our guide in the early autumn of 1891 told of that country's intense preoccupation with national defense.

Agreeing with outsiders that the intensity of the extreme and unjustified, more than one-third of Swiss voters in late autumn '89 asked that the army disband.

The army won't disappear, but the election tally already is leading to some basic changes. It took centuries, but the pervasive fortress atmosphere of exercising, arming, training, exercising, training, stockpiling and training finally is losing its public appeal.

IT WAS FASCINATING to cross valleys thousands of feet deep and follow tiny tunnels directly through many of the Alps. At key points near bridges, roads and tunnels, there were gates and doors that could be closed to isolate any invaders.

Switzerland, you will recall, remained neutral in World War

II. Hitler may not have been sane, but he knew better than to try to conquer the Swiss and their up-and-down terrain.

Our four-hus route generally followed the path that the French emperor, Napoleon Bonaparte, took in leading his troops southward to battle Switzerland.

SWISS HAVEN'T FOUGHT a foreign army since 1815, when Napoleon's forces withdrew after a 17-year stay.

And they haven't fought on foreign soil since, would you believe, three full centuries before that, in 1515.

Bill Winter

headed for the poorhouse.

Nevertheless, just as in the United States, cries are being heard in Switzerland these days to recognize the fall of the Berlin wall and the attempts by Balkan nations to gain independence from the Soviet Union.

More and more Swiss are urging their government to reduce defense spending and declare a "peace dividend."

MY THOUGHTS WENT BACK to 1950 (when I received an official Army induction greeting from President Harry S. Truman) when I learned that Switzerland, a country of 6,485,000 people, currently has 625,000 men in uniform — either on duty or available within 48 hours.

Based on its area of 15,941 square miles, Switzerland "per mile" has a bigger army than any other country in Europe. It has more artillery pieces than West Germany and fully half the number of tanks that France owns.

Every physically able man must do military service, starting with 17 weeks of basic training at age 20, followed by 13 annual summer call-ups of three weeks for refresher courses and field deployment. At least some obligation to serve continues until age 50.

"REFORM" MAY TAKE the form of ending the typical reserve soldier's obligation while he is still a youngster of 42.

The issue of declaring that the nation "has no army," as the ballot phrased it, has been simmering for three years, when petitions for a referendum reached the required 100,000 signatures.

If the election had carried, the military establishment would have been abolished by the year 2000.

That mandate would have undermined one of the most unifying elements of Switzerland, which has no common language.

The three major areas of the country speak French (including Geneva), German (including the Zurich area) and Italian. There also is much religious diversity.

WOMEN ARE EXCLUDED from military conscription. What about the men who are "conscientious objectors" and won't report for army service?

In an average year, several hundred young men are convicted of refusal to take up arms and receive jail terms varying from several months to one year.

During the past year, perhaps to reduce antagonism toward the military, the government announced plans to create and permit some type of alternative service. Details have not yet been decided upon.

AS MENTIONED, there are mountain gates and doors. Some are camouflaged, with the controls hidden.

The mountains also are the source of caches of food supplies and weapons that would rival the best-equipped civil defense shelters anywhere in the world in the World War II era.

But these supplies are being maintained in 1990, at considerable cost and effort, although up-enemy attacks seem to be imminent.

THE SCOUTING MOTTO of "be prepared" is taken seriously by the serious-minded Swiss.

They also live up to many of the Scout ideas better than most countries. Efficiency and punctuality are emphasized, and there is a high degree of neatness and cleanliness.

You might conclude that every week is Stash the Trash Day in Switzerland.

But I wouldn't want to live there. It's too steep, in more ways than one.

SPECIAL OFFER FROM Health-Tex®!

Medicare doesn't cover stay at long-term nursing home

By Bill Hunot
Social Security Administration

Q. I don't need one yet, but chances are in the future I might; so I'd like to know how much of a nursing home bill does Medicare pay?

A. Medicare doesn't cover stays at a long-term nursing home—the type of facility people usually think of when they think of nursing homes. Only short stays in skilled nursing facilities, usually for therapy or other rehabilitative services, are covered.

Medicaid, the medical assistance program administered by Family Services, however, covers long-term nursing care expenses for needy people.

By the way, the average age of a person entering a nursing home is 76. The average stay is about three years. And the average cost is $22,000 per year.

Q. Can you tell me what is the effect on Social Security benefits of not being a U.S. citizen? I have paid Social Security taxes since I began working in this country many years ago. Some people have told me that my benefits will be forfeited since I'm not a citizen.

A. U.S. citizenship is not a requirement to get Social Security benefits. As long as you live in the United States after retirement and meet all the other requirements you'll receive your benefits. Also, people who move to Canada, Israel, Italy, Mexico, Philippines, United Kingdom, West Germany or one of about 60 other countries can receive their U.S. Social Security with no problem.

But there are certain countries where Social Security is not allowed to send checks, for example: Cuba, Kampuchea, East Germany and Vietnam. If you plan to live outside the United States, call 800-234-5772 and ask for a pamphlet titled "Your Social Security Checks While You Are Outside the United States."

Q. How can I find out if a doctor is a Medicare-participating physician? If my doctor is not, does that mean that I won't be reimbursed by Medicare?

A. "Medicare participating" means only that the doctor will accept assignment for all Medicare-covered patients. If your doctor accepts assignment, his office will submit your Medicare claims for you and receive reimbursement directly from Medicare. He will also accept the Medicare-approved charge as his full charge for services. And that could save you a few dollars.

You still get Medicare reimbursement for services provided by non-participating doctors, but you have to file the claims yourself. Claims are paid to you instead of to the doctor, and your doctor may charge you more than the approved charge for services.

You can find out the names and addresses of participating doctors in your area by calling your local Medicare carrier. Carrier phone numbers are in the back of your Medicare Handbook.

Q. During 1989 we paid $4 more per month for our Medicare premium because of the Catastrophic Health Insurance that was added to Medicare. I've read that it's been canceled. Will we get a refund of those extra premiums that we paid in 1989?

A. No. The law was repealed effective January 1990 after 1.1 million people already had received catastrophic benefits. The money collected in 1989 will pay for benefits received in 1989. Send your questions about Social Security to Bill Hunot, St.

Louis News Service, 1215 Fern Ridge Parkway, Suite 108, St. Louis, Mo. 63141.

Valentine said, "What I'm worried about is the Cub Scouts. Today, there were 9- and 10-year-olds standing out there with the big boys."

He said some of the younger children see dope dealers wearing expensive jewelry and view them as role models. "We're going to lose the 9- and 10-year-olds," he warned.

A couple of aldermen recalled that when they were young the police administered instant juvenile justice with what today would probably be called police brutality.

Echols said, "The judicial system doesn't allow police to deal with them as they used to, by cracking heads. I couldn't be a police officer today. I'd get you sued."

Franklin said, "We have to take it on. Otherwise we'll have to go through this every night." He urged Reed to call the State Police for assistance. Reed said he would.

Valentine glumly said it appeared that "we're by ourselves in this little city of Venice. When it comes time there's more bad people than good, it's time to leave."

"I predict a long, hot summer," Echols said.

In a separate vote, the city agreed to sell a lot it owns at 2162 Grand Ave. to QuikTrip for $1,000.

In addition to the QuikTrip store and Jack-in-the-Box restaurant, two other lots are available at the site, Ortbals said.

"Because the city will borrow the money by issuing tax-exempt bonds, both agreements were made contingent upon approval by the city's bond attorneys. Ortbals said he expects all the agreements to be signed this week.

tion, which is slated to last from 2 to 3 years, the air will be monitored to check the level of lead in the air. Before any soil is removed it will be moistened to prevent the spread of particles in the air.

"Based on the above information, the Department of Housing and Urban Development will continue to insure FHA loans in this area."

The only requirement that this office will insist upon having is a signed statement from the purchaser stating that they have been informed of the EPA clean-up operation, that they understand the possible danger that high lead levels in the soil can pose to children and that they are willing to take such risk and hold HUD/FHA harmless in the event of lead poisoning.

hood by forming organizations and by taking an active interest in the neighborhood's future.

Both said the City Council meets three times a month and the development plan has come up at almost every meeting for the past year and a half.

Both said the plan had been the subject of newspaper articles and has been discussed at hearings and other public meetings for more than a year, but the residents waited to express their concerns until the past few weeks.

"The city's not coldesthearted toward Lincoln Place or anywhere else, Kambarian said. "But facts are facts."

Sun

Robert M. Jelenic, president of Ingersoll Publications Co., said the Sun started with a budget of $20 million to $25 million and our investment has actually been somewhat more than this. Nonetheless, in spite of all our efforts, we concluded that the level of continuing investment would have resolved the single-copy circulation issue.

In a statement, Jelenic said: "I join Mr. Ingersoll in offering our profound thanks to our courageous and talented people who have maintained throughout the high standards we set for ourselves and for the Sun. And, particularly, we want to thank Publisher Tom Tallarico and Managing Editor Peter O'Sullivan."

Tallarico said each of the Sun's 194 full-time employees would receive the equivalent of 12 weeks full pay and health and welfare benefits.

"I think this is an important step for downtown," Ortbals said. "The entire block is one of the most blighted in the area and also one of the most valuable. This sends a message to developers that the city is able, as well as willing, to bring development of downtown to actuality."

Ortbals said the actual debt incurred by the city, based on payment over a 19-year period, is close to $1 million. During the same period, he said, the income the city can expect from the two businesses, via Tax Increment Financing, is $2 million.

"Now that's not counting inflation," he said. "But, lots 1 and 4 are not spoken for and it's not counting the income to the city if businesses open there."

"We feel that this is necessary to inform the buyers, so they understand the risk and use extra precaution in protecting their family until the finish of the clean-up project."

Costello requested the written statement after questions on the status of FHA loans in the area were raised in newspaper articles, including those in the Press-Record/Journal. HUD officials were quoted as saying they were unsure what, if any, policy was being followed.

"This is the first real idea we've been given of what's happening," said Harold Cavins, president of the Granite City Board of Realtors. "Up to now, all we've gotten from anyone is the old two-step."

Houses affected are in the areas of Granite City, Madison, Venice and Eagle Park, said the EPA.

such as has formed in response to the development plan, can be a defense against zoning changes, Kambarian said, but "You've got to stay committed."

Fourth Ward Alderman Dan Partney, who proposed the amendment, said he wasn't worried about industry coming into the neighborhoods because, "It's not going to happen in my lifetime."

But, he said, leaving them in the gray areas was the equivalent of "writing them off as residential neighborhoods."

Second Ward Alderman Jim Miller, the only alderman to vote against the amendment, said he objected because "the plan hasn't even been approved and already we're punching holes in it."

man of Ingersoll Publications Co., said: "Far from leaving the St. Louis region, we've been here for seven years already and will continue to publish the 153-year-old Alton Telegraph and the 44 editions of the Suburban Journals. Today the Suburban Journals are regarded as the largest and highest-quality community newspaper group in the United States."

"We intend to further strengthen our commitment to the more than 900,000 households we already serve in the greater St. Louis area by investing in new editions, plants and presses. We also plan to continue to actively support initiatives which enhance the quality of life for all who live here."

Police chase crashes to halt in Madison

MADISON — A high-speed chase that began in East St. Louis came to a crashing halt in Madison late Wednesday night, and a Madison policeman captured two of the three occupants of a stolen car.

Canine Officer Raymond Burrus heard an Illinois State Police radio transmission about the chase, spotted the suspect vehicle in Madison and joined the chase.

Residents of Madison reported police vehicles running stop signs at 50 mph to 60 mph.

The vehicle's route took it from East St. Louis over I-55/70 and onto Illinois 200, in Madison — with state police and Fairmont City police in hot pursuit — the gray Pontiac turned left on Third Street, right on Washington Avenue, east on 12 Street, and north on Greenwood Avenue.

Burrus saw the car leave the street, travel across a vacant lot and crash into the corner of a garage in the 1100 block of Greenwood. The car also struck a parked car.

Burrus spotted its occupants running down the alley toward Elizabeth Street. With the help of his dog, he captured a juvenile female.

A few minutes later, he captured another suspect hiding under a car on Elizabeth Street.

More detailed information on the two suspects and what became of the third man involved was not being released at press time by state police investigators.

The big advantage of planning in advance through the American Pre-Need Plan is that a funeral is planned at today's prices. While costs are escalating, your cost remains the same.

EXAMPLE: A person pre-planning a $4,000 funeral at age 65 would pay $3,200, saving $750. This plan is also available on a 3 year and 5 year pay plan.

(These figures are examples. The American Funeral Insurance Pre-Need Plan is not a contract. For more information, call 931-8000 or 931-8001. Younger ages reflect greater savings than this example.)

Final shipment from Three Mile Island has come and gone through area

By Sabrina Eaton
Staff writer

WASHINGTON — No more trains carrying radioactive debris are scheduled to travel through Metro East and the St. Louis area.

With a flourish of self-congratulation, the U.S. Department of Energy on Thursday announced the completion of radioactive debris shipments from the 1979 Three Mile Island nuclear accident in Pennsylvania to a DOE research facility in Idaho.

The last of 22 shipments arrived at the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory in Idaho Falls on Thursday morning, after leaving Middletown, Pa., April 15 and traversing the St. Louis bi-state area, by rail, said DOE spokesman Phil Garon.

In an effort to attach a silver lining to the near fiasco, DOE officials proclaimed the reactor cleanup and decontamination a success.

They noted that these efforts led to improved radioactive waste disposal technology and better understanding of nuclear accidents.

"The accident at Three Mile Island was a painful and costly event that had a profound impact, both here and abroad," said Secretary of Energy James D. Watkins.

"At the same time, some valuable lessons were learned from this experience, and in that sense the U.S. nuclear industry and the nation as a whole have benefited."

"I am very pleased with the constructive role that the federal government and particularly the Department of Energy have played in helping to make these lessons available."

The research on the nuclear plant's damaged core and fuel cost the DOE $189 million.

Garon said almost 329,000 pounds of radioactive debris was shipped by rail through Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming and Idaho since July 1986. The most populous metropolitan areas traversed were Pittsburgh, Indianapolis, St. Louis and Kansas City, Kan., he said.

That route provided the shortest

— Kay Drey

Missouri Coalition for the Environment

est transportation time over the best tracks, and the waste was safely enclosed in specially designed transportation casks, Garon said.

"It was a very good program that went on for a number of years and demonstrated that nuclear waste could be transported safely," Garon said.

"There were no problems," But Kay Drey of the Missouri Coalition for the Environment disagreed, citing a St. Louis incident where a train carrying radioactive materials hit an automobile and another incident where a sign on the car next to the wastes said it contained highly flammable material.

Though neither resulted in radioactive discharges, Drey said they were cause for concern.

She also criticized the Department of Energy for not conducting an environmental impact study before transporting the wastes through St. Louis, and for not choosing a route that avoided population centers.

"All they did was move that stuff from one swimming pool in Pennsylvania to another swimming pool in Idaho and put a lot of people's lives at risk while they did it," Drey said.

"They could easily send radioactive wastes through here again, the next time they have some to transport. We are the Department of Energy's rail route of choice." Sen. John C. Danforth, R-Mo., is pleased the shipments are over but said he won't be satisfied until the Department of Energy implements permanent changes in hazardous materials transportation policies.

Along with Sens. Christopher S. "Kit" Bond, R-Mo., and Nancy Kassebaum, R-Kan., Danforth has sponsored legislation that would make the Department of Transportation devise standards for hazardous materials transportation routes, among other changes.

Rep. Jack Buechner, R-Kirkwood, agreed that keeping future shipments of nuclear material away from populous areas is a paramount concern, and said he is exploring legislative options.

"The federal government would like the residents in and around St. Louis to feel relieved now that the shipments have been completed," Buechner said. "Isn't that like trying to convince someone that he should feel much better now that his head isn't being pounded by a hammer?"

Garon said it would be impossible to predict routes future DOE waste shipments would take.

"That would depend on a lot of factors, like where it is coming from and where it is going," Garon said.

Vivod, Brazee enter county record book

COLLINSVILLE—The team scores might not look all that spectacular, but the Warrior track team left its impression on the Madison County Red Division Track Meet on Tuesday.

Senior Frank Vivod and junior Dan Brazee got their names into the county record books despite a third-place finish in the boys meet for Granite City. Vivod set a new record in the shot put with a throw of 39.7, eclipsing the old record set by Granite City North's Mike Long by nearly a foot. Long's old record was 38.4.

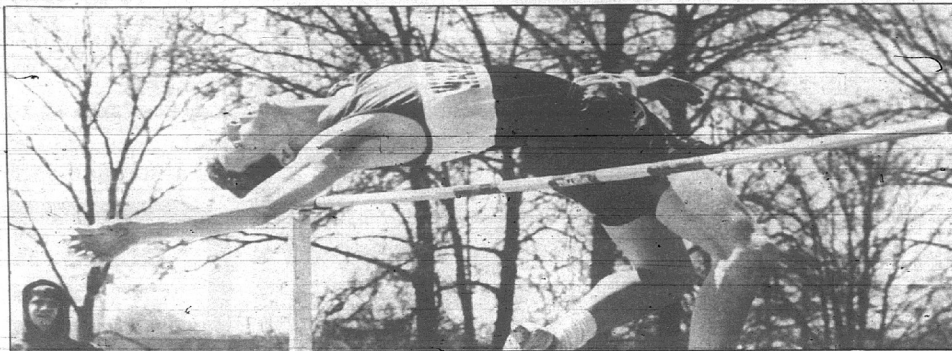

"Frank really popped one," said Warrior coach Dave McClain. "Now that he has reached the qualifying distance (52 feet), we're looking at him as a possibility for state."

Brazee, who qualified for state in the high jump as a sophomore last spring, gained a share of the county high jump standard with a final leap of 6-3. That equaled the previous record established by Alton's Brian Smith in 1985.

"We all know what Danny can do," said McClain. "After he jumped 6-6, I was hoping he could get maybe to 6-8. But he did even better than that. He's almost a shoo-in for state again."

Sophomore Larry Curry also helped Granite City improve its reputation in the weight events as he won the discus competition with a throw of 129-9. That was well short of the meet record of 165-10.4. Senior Joe Thomas of the Warriors was second in the discus and the shot put.

"We feel pretty good about our weight men," said McClain. "But Larry wasn't real happy with his throw in the discus. He three individually as he took third in the mile run. Lacey won that event in 4:40.6 and Edwardsville's Max Kail was second.

The Warriors scored in three relay events, taking second in the 400 relay (Alton won in a meet record time of 43.2), third in the 800 relay (Alton won at 1:32.4 and Edwardsville was second) and third in the 3200 relay (Edwardsville won in 8:36.6 and Alton was second).

In the girls meet, Edwardsville had more than twice as many points as the other three schools combined. The Tigers piled up 180 points, with Granite City a distant second at 34. Alton had 26 and Collinsville 22.

Lynn Velling was second in the 3200 meters, which Edwardsville's Shayna Gocken won in 13:45. Gocken also won the 1600 meters in 6:23.5, and Granite City's Jennifer Winfield was second in the 3200 meters (Edwardsville won in 15:33.1) and third in the 1600 relay.

The Warriors will run in the Marion Relays on Friday.

Three late goals send Lady Warriors by Alton

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — The Lady Warriors turned to some unexpected sources for offense Wednesday.

Three players who hadn't previously scored a varsity goal denied the net in the final 20 minutes for a 4-1 win over Alton at Memorial Stadium. Senior Beth Epperson broke the tie at 31:16 by converting a crossing pass past Alton goalie Kathy Klope.

That broke the dam and freshman Suzanne Stuart blasted home a rebound after Klope had stopped two point-blank shots at 72:58. Senior April Drube, playing her first year at soccer, rounded out the scoring at 75:05 from in close.

The Lady Warriors improved to 4-3 and broke a two-game losing streak.

"It's a little unusual to see the girls build on the lead like they did, but it was a great effort," said Warrior coach Gene Baker, whose team had been shutout in the last two games.

"We played about two minutes of good soccer," said Alton coach Mick Brown after his team fell to 8-6. "We played a couple minutes of mediocre soccer and the rest of it wasn't too good."

The Lady Warriors (4-3) opened the scoring just four minutes into the game when sophomore Amanda Witter got her third goal of the year on an assist from junior Addie Lenzi. Alton came on early in the second half and sophomore Camie Bechtold scored her 20th goal of the season by putting her own rebound behind sophomore goalie Leslie Stavelly at 48:03.

"The Bechtold girl played very well despite her injury," said Baker (Bechtold had a cast on her arm). "Freshman Julie Goclan did a great job marking her. The goal she scored was a result of a mistake by another player."

Alton seemed to be coming on when Bechtold tied it, but the Lady Warriors turned it around quickly. They outshot the Redwings 18-5.

"This was one of our down games," said Brown. "We have one good game and one bad game. If we do that in the state tournament we won't last too long."

The Redwings beat Missouri state champion Incarnate Word 1-0 in the Collinsville tournament last week. The Lady Warriors play at Incarnate Word on Friday and host McCluer on Monday in a makeup of the March 27 rainout.

Madison stays competitive

By Mike Kelly
Staff writer

HIGHLAND — It wasn't very long ago that Madison was considered one of the premiere track programs in the area.

But those were the old days. The program now is trying to do the best it can with limited numbers. Despite those numbers, Madison put together a gutsy effort on Tuesday in the Green Division of the 43rd Annual Madison County Track Meet.

Nunez no-hits Lady Warriors, 8-0

By Brian Henry
Correspondent

BELLEVILLE — The Lady Warriors have been in an offensive drought of Sahara Desert proportions. Ramona Nunez certainly brought no water Tuesday.

Nunez, a senior pitcher for the Belleville East softball team, kept Granite City reeling Tuesday with a no-hitter as the Lancasters — defending state champions — improved to 5-0 in the Southwestern Conference and 13-1 overall. The Lady Warriors dropped to 2-3 in the conference and 2-7 overall.

Nunez struck out 11 and didn't walk anybody as East won its 42nd game in the its last 43 outings.

"Everybody in the lineup is in a slump," said Granite City coach John Hutchings. "It is the worst slump I've ever seen in all my years of coaching. I don't know what it will take, but we have got to start hitting."

It looked like an upset was at least possible in the early innings as Lady Warrior pitcher Mia Puhser (2-6) allowed only one run in the first four innings. Nunez was just as sharp, however, as she moved through the Granite City lineup, striking out all side in the second.

All good things must come to an end, and so it was as the Lancasters scored four in the fifth and three more in the sixth to give Nunez much more than she needed. East erupted in the fifth as Mario Pecoraro broke it open with a two-run triple. She scored on a double by Sandi Obermeier to make it 5-0.

You need the numbers to succeed in that area."

Those words made Briggs a prophet. Thanks to depth, Highland won both meets for the second year in a row. The girls accumulated 80 1/2 points to finish almost 12 points in front of surprising Roxana, while the boys team racked up 83 points, finishing a whopping 21 points in front of Roxana.

(See MADISON, Page 4B)

"I think it's partly my fault because I didn't take Mia out in the fifth," said Hutchings. "I let her go two innings too long. Pecoraro played some more long ball in the sixth as she drilled a two-run homer. Amey Bohmshiel finished up on the mound."

"We can't let the opposing pitcher dictate the ballgame," said Hutchings. "We need some confidence against the better pitching that we face. I talked to the East coaches and they said (Nunez) wasn't all that fast. It's basic. We have to hit to win and until that happens I don't know what we'll do."

Granite City is off until next Tuesday, when they travel to Alton to face the Redwings. The Lady Warriors defeated Alton 8-4 at home on April 5.

Hill's sterling relief effort Fops Crusaders 1st loss

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — Enthusiasm and energy, Chris Hill has it. And Chris Hill spreads it around.

Hill, a junior right-hander for the Warriors, got himself and his teammates excited Wednesday afternoon. He won his second game in 24 hours, blanking the previously unbeaten Althoff Crusaders with four sterling innings of relief. Granite City (9-4) came back from an early 4-0 deficit to knock off the Crusaders 5-4.

"We had some competitive-ness today," said Warrior coach Bob Stegemeyer. "And Chris Hill is that way. He jumps around out there and gets things going. What a job he did. He attacked their 3-4-5 hitters in the seventh inning."

Hill faced the meat of the Althoff order — center fielder Darin Stovall, right fielder Pat Conreux and third baseman Darnell Ysursa — in the seventh. Stovall tied to right on the first pitch and Conreux rolled to first on the second. Hill got behind Ysursa 3-0, but got the next two pitches over before blowing strike three past Ysursa to end the game.

"I wasn't that surprised the first two guys went up there swinging," said Stegemeyer. "Those are their best hitters and Chris has been getting ahead of most of them. And he and Tony (Sternberg) made a nice play on the ground ball. Chris got off the mound in a hurry and was right there to take the throw."

Hill has a herky-jerky motion and a sidearm delivery. And he jumps around a little like Pascual Perez at times. He shot off the mound to catch Steve Gornic's ball right on the third-base line to end the sixth, then spiked the ball between his legs as he ran to the dugout.

"He had a little mustard on him," Stegemeyer said. "That's all right. They've done it to us before."

In four innings of relief of starter Tom Matern, Hill walked two, struck out four, gave up no hits and retired the last 11 men in order.

Warriors split with Lancers

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — Tuesday was not a good night for Bob Stogemeier. He lost every argument with the umpires, lost a conference game to Belleville East and nearly got arrested in the process.

He also watched the Warriors play sloppy baseball for the second straight day, but at least Granite City managed a sweep of the double-header at Varsity Field. The Lancers took the first game — the one that counts in the conference standings — 5-1 behind a complete game and a home run by pitcher Reid Huber. The Warriors came back behind a home run and five RBIs from Joe Wallace for a 10-7 win in the nightcap.

East improved to 3-2 in conference play and 9-7 overall. "The Warriors fell into a four-way tie for third in the conference at 2-3. We're not very alert defensively," said Stogemeier. "We messed up the sacrifice and that opened the gates in the first game. And we just had plain bad baserunning."

The Lancers, who started the season 7-0 only to lose six of their next seven, got all they needed off losing pitcher Rich Schardan (2-1) in the third. Chris Hanussek singled and Don Minton bunted. Schardan fielded the bunt and second baseman Jim McKeehan went to cover first. But first baseman Tony Sternberg went back to cover also. Sternberg dropped Schardan's toss and the Lancers were in business.

Another sacrifice moved the runners to second and third before Mark Fort's single to right-center plated both. Corey Lewis followed with an RBI single to make it 3-0.

Richie was pretty good outside of the one inning," said Stogemeier. "He doesn't throw hard enough to get many strikeouts, so it's tough for him to pitch around our mistakes. And he made the one mistake to Huber."

Huber led off the fourth with a home run and Minton drove in the fifth run on a fielder's choice in the sixth. On that one, the Warriors might have turned a double play, but third baseman Mike Mueller made a poor throw to second and McKeehan made a good play just to get one out.

2 Timothy 4:17... "Notwithstanding the Lord is with me, and strengthened me."

The testimony of the Apostle Paul is without a doubt one of the greatest in the world. Here is a man totally exposed to God and strictly devoted to his own faith of religion. God reveals himself to Paul on the road to Damascus and he then turns around and opposes his former religion and gives himself completely to God. In fact, Paul counts all things loss that he might gain Christ.

When Paul started for God, he never turned back against him. He sacrificed much, he suffered much, yet he remained faithful.

God rewarded Paul for his steadfastness. By Paul's own words, "The Lord was with me and strengthened me." Could we ask for more than this?

God will be with you. He will strengthen you. Make your total commitment to Him.

•Madison

But the shells had their day in the sun as sophomore Jennifer Coons established new meet records in the 100 meter hurdles (16.2), eclipsing the old mark of 16.7 set by Aliska Hammon of Civic Memorial last year) and the 300 low hurdles (48.1), which broke the old mark of 48.5 also set by Hammon last season).

Mark Kronk of Highland tied the meet record in the high jump with an effort of 6-4.

Madison did see a little daylight on an individual basis. Brian Campbell won the long jump (19.75) and finished third in the 100 meter dash (11.0), while Harold Moody won the 400 meter dash (52.4) and finished second in the 200 (23.2). The boys struggled in the relay events for the most part, but the Trojans' 400 relay took second place (46.2).

The girls won the 800 relay (1:52.6) and finished second in the 400 relay (53.2). The Trojans should have won that event, but Dawn Graham blasted by Andria Whitcomb on the final leg to win the event by two tenths of a second.

"This is Andria's first year out for track," said Briggs. "Inexperience cost her down the stretch, but she's learning like the rest of our girls."

Shermaine Russell and Yuketha Gardner eased some of the pain by winning their events. Russell captured the 100 meter dash (12.7), while Gardner won the 200 (26.5). The Trojanettes also got some strong performances from Marjorie Matlock Jones, who finished second in the shot put (33.5), and Theresa Hampt, who took second in the discus (34.4). Madison's 800 medley also took second (2:35.4).

"I'm proud of the kids who ran today," said Briggs. "But our tradition is in the hallway and not out on the track. We've got some tremendous athletes, but they're not accepting the responsibility."

"We just have some gutless kids. Maybe there isn't any support at home, but track isn't a sport you can walk into any time you want. It takes a lot of time and a lot of sacrifice. I'm not trying to be religious, but I believe that if the Lord gives you a gift then you should use it to the best of your ability. But I guess our kids are taking our past tradition for granted."

The boys' team is suffering a similar fate. After beginning the year with 20 on the roster, Charlie Steptoe has seen their number fall to 12.

"We only had 12 guys out here today and we were in the thick of things for a while," said Steptoe. "It's funny how things can change so quickly. We had a third-place finish at state two years ago, but somehow the interest has fallen off. It's frustrating for the kids who are giving it their all."

"But there is some light at the end of the tunnel. We got some solid performances out of Moody and Campbell. That tells me there are some kids in our program willing to make the sacrifice."

"Despite our problems this year, we've managed to put together some decent outings," said Briggs. "This remaining group has the potential to get to (state). I truly believe they'll be there and it will show the other kids just what they missed."

pe. "Our kids haven't hit the ball all year. Pitching has done it for us, but give credit to Granite City. Their pitchers did a nice job keeping us off balance all night. The sidearm motion is an unnatural motion and that just adds to our problems."

"We could have added to the lead," Steptoe said. "Mike (Mueller) just missed getting a double in the fifth with two men on."

Mueller made a nice play on Matt Gormie's hard grounder in the fifth and Hill took care of the rest.

"The BAC coach was here today and he said Chris looked like the best player on the field," said Steptoe. "That's saying something with a team like Althoff out here."

"It's been a while since we've beaten (Althoff) in any sport. This shows we can play with anybody. Our pitching has been pretty good. Basically, our defense has given the other teams their runs. But (Mike) Nordstrom did a good job calling (Chad) Lignout off that one ball that was slicing (by Mark Schrand in the sixth). It looked easy, but the wind made it hard. You can see what happened to their third baseman on Schrand's ball."

Pianist Benoit short-circuits the driving currents of jazz

By Paul Harris

Correspondent

After fronting a powered-up fusion sound during most of the 1980s, pianist David Benoit turned down the juice and turned back the clock late last year with a traditional jazz disc titled "Waiting for Spring."

Benoit, who will appear at 8 p.m. May 3 at Westport Playhouse, has recorded five discs for GRP Records. But the latest marks the Los Angeles pianist's first venture outside the slick, techno-jazz sound that GRP is known for.

"I felt that it was time to try something different," said Benoit, 36. "It's something that's honest and genuine for me."

"I've been playing (traditional jazz) for a long time, but I'd been in a different type of musical genre with GRP, which was doing well. At first I did receive a little bit of resistance from the label about recording a traditional album. But I really campaigned hard for it."

The sound on Benoit's new disc can best be characterized by two of the composers whose tunes are covered—the late jazz piano innovators Bill Evans and Vince Guaraldi. It is an intimate, acoustic-centered sound, the subtlety of which runs counter to the driving currents of contemporary jazz.

Benoit put together a conventional jazz piano trio with Weather Report veteran Peter Erskine on drums and Luther Hughes and John Patitucci doing the acoustic bass work on alternating tracks. Then, in what proved to be the master stroke, Benoit enlisted New Jersey guitarist Emily Emler.

David Benoit
... plays traditionalist

"That arose out of my own insecurity," Benoit said about his recruitment of Emler. "I had never made a straight-ahead jazz album. A lot of piano players in that situation would choose to make a trio record. That's the natural thing."

"But I was looking for something to make it seem like a really legitimate jazz album. I had always been a fan of Emily. I always thought she was one of the best jazz guitarists I'd ever heard—terribly underrated. I called her label—Concord Records—and they put me in touch with her. We put it together, just like that. One phone call and she was out here."

Benoit is in the studio working on material for a forthcoming album. Perhaps bowing to pressure from his label, he admits that the electric bill for the next disc is bound to go up. However, he insists he will continue to experiment and explore beyond the confines of commercially successful formulas.

"We just did a live date with a 35-piece orchestra, on a tune I wrote called 'Houston.' It's sort of like Aaron Copland meets Dan Hicks," Benoit said, laughing. "It starts off almost like a jazz-country tune, then it goes into a classical, odd-time section. And then in the end it goes into a real country-style hoedown with mandolin, banjo and 12-string guitar."

"It's very different from anything that you'd expect to hear on a GRP record, so it will be interesting to see what happens."

For his Westport gig, Benoit's band will feature saxophonist Brandon Fields along with Steve Bailey on bass and David Derg on drums. Tickets are $18.50 and available at all Ticket Now outlets, Westport Playhouse, Kiel and Mississippi Nights box offices, or by calling Dialtix at (314) 434-6600.

PREPARATION: Jessie, portrayed by Laura Soldan of St. Louis, at right, and her mother, played by Brenda Robertson of Glen Carbon, discuss why Jessie has made a decision to end her life as Jessie prepares her room for the inevitable.

'Night, Mother' at SIUE May 3-6

Marsha Norman's powerful drama "Night, Mother" about a suicidal young woman attempting to explain her plight to her mother will be staged at 7:30 p.m., May 3-5, and at 2 p.m., May 6, in the Metcalf Student Experimental Theater on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Produced and directed by members of the SIUE Student Experimental Theater Association, "Night, Mother" is an intense two-character play depicting Mama, portrayed by SIUE student Brenda Robertson of Glen Carbon, as oblivious to her daughter's problem—Mama finds it difficult to comprehend the situation, while her daughter, Jessie, portrayed by SIUE theater student Laura Soldan of St. Louis, prepares for the inevitable.

Tickets for the performances are $3; SIUE faculty and staff, and seniors, $2.50; SIUE students, no admission charge. For reservations, call 692-2773 or, from St. Louis toll-free, (314) 621-5163, ext. 2773.

Chris Limber

Aging topic of BAC arts program May 3

Songs and stories about aging—as a teen-ager, a parent, and a grandparent—will be presented May 3 in the final program of Belleville Area College's Spring Arts Series.

The 45-minute program, "The Wings of Time," will be at 7 p.m. in the Belleville Campus Theatre, 2500 Carlyle Road.

Limber developed the show from interviews of people ages 16 to 96. All of the profile selections are true, including adults reflecting on their childhoods.

An accomplished actor, Limber has numerous credits in St. Louis with the Repertory Theatre of St. Louis, Theater Project Company, Theater Factory, and the New Theater.

Single-admission tickets are available for $5.50 each in the College Activities Office, Room 3280 of the Belleville Campus, and at the door prior to the performance if all tickets have not been sold.

Tickets may also be reserved by calling 235-2700, extension 205, or toll-free 1-800-BAC-5131, extension 205.

BAC's five-show Spring Arts Series is sponsored by the College Activities Office and the BAC Foundation.

Hey, Sportscasters: What's happening?

For the record, I don't know much about hockey. But with the exciting success of the Blues, I am becoming a fan.

As a fan, I'm now going out of my way to watch the Blues on KPLR-TV (Channel 11) and I've got a question: Why don't the folks who describe the games to us do a better job of explaining the action?

For instance: Game Two of the Blues-Chicago Blackhawks Norris Division Final on April 20. Blues defenseman Paul Cavallini scored a wonderful goal late in the third period after some brilliant work by his teammates created an opening for him. The tally cut Chicago's lead to one goal.

Announcer Ken Wilson said to colleague Bruce Affleck, "You're an ex-defenseman. There shouldn't be that much space between them (Blackhawks defenders)." Affleck agreed. But neither of them volunteered to tell us why there was that much space between the Chicago defenders at their own blue line.

Let me try to explain it. Mike Lalor passed to Rod Brind'Amour and skated diagonally left. Brind'Amour skated right and dropped a pass to Cavallini. The defenders went with Lalor and Brind'Amour, and that left a hole for Cavallini to skate through and blast the puck into the net. It was absolutely beautiful.

But Wilson and Affleck made it sound like an ugly mistake by Chicago, not a great creative effort. I may be wrong about the play, but it seems that someone should have tried to explain how such a pivotal goal was scored.

Another example: In Game Three on April 22, which the Blues ultimately won 5-4 in heart-stopping fashion, the Blackhawks completely dominated the third period for the first 15 minutes, getting 16 shots to only four for the Blues. At that point, announcer John Kelly allowed that it was hard to understand how the Blackhawks could completely dominate the Blues over that period of time.

Ian MacBryde

Well, let's see, are the Blackhawks better? Did their coach make a better speech between periods? Because the Blues were leading after two periods, were they simply playing defense? Were they intimidated? What were the Blackhawks doing to dominate?

It looked to me as if they were working a lot harder, but, as we established earlier, I don't know much about hockey.

SLSO to tour Europe in 1991

The St. Louis Symphony Orchestra will make a three-week European tour in February 1991, performing 17 concerts in 16 cities.

Violinist Kyung-wha Chung and pianist Rudolph Buchbinder will be guest artists on the tour.

The orchestra, conducted by Leonard Slatkin, will perform in London, Paris, Vienna, Berlin, Frankfurt, Bonn and Dusseldorf and other cities on its fourth overseas tour in six years.

There was a moment during Game Three when Affleck pointed out that, on the previous two power plays, the Blackhawks had set a pick on a Blues defenseman, which led to two wicked shots from the point. That great observation helped me notice something about hockey I'd never considered before—picks.

But I'd like more help during the telecasts in understanding the game.

Ironically, there is a perfect example of what a color analyst should be doing on the same channel, but in another sport.

When Channel 11 does St. Louis Storm soccer games, Rich Gould handles the play-by-play and former U.S. National team captain, now Washington University coach Ty Keough does analysis.

Keough is good. He understands the game, but, who is just as important to us, he can explain it. And that's what he does as a color man.

Keough told us about the strategy of some substitutions. He showed us the positioning of players in certain situations. He showed us how the flexibility of Dallas star Tatu allowed him to get off acrobatic shots from positions that would stymie other players. And Keough did not hesitate to correct Gould occasionally when even when it reflected badly on the hometown boys.

For instance: Gould: "(St. Louis player) Claudio; De Oliveira was taken down." Keough: "No, he took down (Dallas player) Troy Snider."

It isn't just a matter of one sport needing more explaining than another. After all, Jack Buck doesn't hesitate to tell us all about the strategy of baseball, John Madden tells us about football and Billy Packer explains basketball.

Good analysis of the game helps all of us appreciate the contest more. And, if you don't need analysis, you don't need all those people cluttering up the microphone.

American Home Week observed by Realtors

GRANITE CITY — April marks the 22nd anniversary of the federal Fair Housing Act, landmark legislation which makes it illegal to deny housing to any individual based on race, color, religion, sex, national origin, familial status or handicap.

To commemorate this event, Mayor Von Dee Cruse, in conjunction with the Granite City Board of Realtors, has declared April 29 through May 5 American Home Week to "remind all citizens of their freedom to own property, the importance to protect the rights that accompany this ownership and their awareness of the value of improving such value."

According to Harold Cavins, president of the Board of Realtors, the pride of home ownership is becoming more difficult to achieve, particularly for first time home buyers.

"Housing affordability will most definitely be an issue of the 1990s," Cavins said. "One of the priorities of the Granite City Board of Realtors is to work in concert with the Illinois Association of Realtors and National Association of Realtors in promoting development of local, state and federal programs that foster growth of affordable housing."

Marking April as Fair Housing Month, the Board of Realtors has chosen "Heart of America" as its theme to stress the association's push toward affordable housing and to heighten the awareness of fair housing rights.

"The theme 'Heart of America' emphasizes the need for more affordable housing both on a state and national level. The Illinois Affordable Housing Trust Fund and Home Ownership Made Easy program approved by the legislature in 1989 will make homeownership more accessible for many low-to-moderate income citizens," said Barbara Wyatt, secretary of the Board of Realtors.

"These programs come in response to a need for housing that is affordable to all citizens regardless of their income level, social status, location, monthly rent or mortgage payment.

"Our organization will continue to pursue other programs such as these to increase the affordability of housing for all citizens."

This year, Cavins said, the U.S. Congress will consider a variety of proposals dealing with affordable housing.

"Among key policy options we would like to see adopted are adjusting the FIA mortgage insurance limits to a percentage, such as 95 percent, of the market median price; granting permission to first-time homebuyers to withdraw set amounts, without penalty, from Individual Retirement Accounts and 401(k) plans for their down payment, and the further pursuit of public-private partnerships for low-income housing," Cavins said.

Cavins said a 1988 study by the National Association of Realtors showed 75 percent of all renter households desired to own a home, but 70 percent said the inability to come up with a down payment was the major barrier to buying a home.

"Throughout the past decade the increase in home prices has far exceeded the income increases of rental households. This forces them to come up with more and more money for a down payment," Cavins said. "The down payment obstacle suggests it is time for the federal government to implement programs that will help more families realize the American Dream of homeownership."

In addition to recognizing the achievement of passage of the original Fair Housing Act, the Board of Realtors also wants to note passage of the Fair Housing Amendments Act in March 1988, which expanded the coverage of the original act.

"Amendments ... implemented in the past year substantially heightened the significance our country has placed on the right of each American to have freedom of choice in housing," Wyatt said.

The Amendment prohibits discrimination of the basis of physical and mental handicaps or against families with children under age 18.

"Now, qualified families with children may not be excluded or otherwise segregated within a development simply because of the presence of children in their household," Wyatt said.

The act also requires, effective in 1991, design and construction features designed to accommodate handicapped persons in new multi-family dwellings.

"As a demonstration of our commitment to preserving equal opportunity in housing, the Granite City Board of Realtors has long participated in the Voluntary Affirmative Marketing Agreement with the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development," Wyatt said.

"This agreement between the private sector and government provides for equal access to housing and equal professional services to all Realtor clients and customers."

The Granite City Board of Realtors is a member of the Illinois Association of Realtors, a professional trade association with more than 32,000 members engaged in all facets of the real estate industry.

The association provides education and information for professional real estate agents and strives to ensure ethical business standards. It also represents the interests of owners and real estate agents in governmental affairs.

Seminar for home buyers

Intended to take the mystery out of the home-buying process, Coldwell Banker Star Realtors is presenting a free seminar at the Coldwell Banker Star office, 3701-D Nameoki Road, Granite City on Tuesday, May 1, at 7 p.m.

Directed primarily to first-time buyers and individuals with limited home buying experience, the seminar will also benefit home owners considering upgrading their home or relocating to another area.

A complimentary copy of the Coldwell Banker Best Buyer Guidebook, which helps buyers determine their affordable price range, will be given to each attendee. Worksheets and charts to guide buyers through each step of the home process will also be distributed," said John Blasingame, broker and co-owner.

Topics covered will be FHA financing with only 3 percent down payment, Veterans financing with no down payment, closing costs, tax advantages to buying vs. renting, and a discussion on various other type of loans available. To attend, call Coldwell Banker Star Realtors at 876-0024.

Coldwell Banker has approximately 1,800 residential real estate offices and nearly 39,000 sales associates in North America, and is a member of the Sears Financial Network.

'Open house' set for Sunday

To help stimulate home sales, Coldwell Banker is staging a giant international open house celebration from April 21 through May 6.

Designed to bring home buyers and sellers together, this fourth annual event will take place throughout North America as an estimated quarter of a million Coldwell Banker listings will be open for viewing.

"An exceptional variety of properties in the Granite City area will be open Sunday, April 29 to meet the diverse needs of prospective buyers," said John Blasingame, broker/co-owner of Coldwell Banker Star Realtors. "This is one of the most popular annual activities that Coldwell Banker sales associates perform to bring home buyers and sellers together."

"In preparation for this special spring event, our sales associates helped their sellers prepare their homes for viewing by using our Best Seller Home Enhancement Guide," said Blasingame.

"Prospective home buyers have an excellent opportunity to view a large selection of available homes during our Spring Open House Celebration."

VP Fair names new director

Mel J. Loewenstein has been named executive director of the VP Fair, effective June 1. Loewenstein, 56, has been executive director of the Arts and Education Council of Greater St. Louis since 1982. He will vacate that post to join the VP Fair. VP Fair general chairman Ronald E. Henges said Loewenstein was selected for the job following a search that included interviews with more than 70 candidates from outside and within the St. Louis area. Loewenstein succeeds retiring executive director Charles H. Wallace, who remains on the VP Fair Board of Governors and serves as a consultant to the VP Fair Foundation. Wallace served as executive director of the VP Fair for eight years.
